

Idaho Votes Out Gaming Proposals

attempting to move up to the senate.

Democrats lost both of Idaho's seats in the house of representatives and took all state offices but governor, attorney general and treasurer.

The mine inspector who died in the early morning hours, with Rep. O. T. Hansen of Boise, was the first to file his late returns from Ada County to overcome the earlier lead held by Democrat Donald Adams. Coeur d'Alene Republicans gained control of both houses of the state legislature.

It was the big population centers of southern Idaho which gave Emily the margin he needed to defeat Smith. The latter had margins in the counties, but the margins generally were not as large as those in the 27 counties he carried.

8 in 8 in the majorities. In Adams, Bonneville, Blaine, Boise, Bonner, Boundary, Butte, Clearwater, Custer, Elmore, Gooding, Jerome, Kootenai, Lincoln, Latah, Owyhee, Shoshone.

Smith carried the rest.

The total vote was approximately 200,000, 100,000 records were not counted.

Smith, who easily led over Rep. H. T. Flory, was the six-year Senate seat and held it all the way.

The race between Jordan and Mrs. Pictot saw a swing in the early stages but settled down to a standstill. Jordan increased his lead.

Last night the Democratic winners were Rep. Ralph Halding of Blackfoot, in the second district, and Captain J. W. Clark of Fort, in the third.

While who takes the seat held by his late father for 16 years, defeated him, was the choice of Scheuer of Caldwell, who was making his third bid for the job.

Harding, who won reelection to the state Senate, was elected to the State Tax Court, Craven, of Blackfoot.

State Rep. Alan Shepard of Boise defeated Democrat State Sen. J. Ray Cox, Jr., of Coeur d'Alene.

Winning reelection were Lieut. Gov. E. D. Bunker, Republican of State; Rep. William Audie, Rep. O. T. Williams and Superintendent of Public Instruction D. P. Engstrom.

Majority of Boise defense defeated Rep. Hubert Stevenson, incumbent for Gresser, and O. T. Hansen of Boise with a narrow victory.

Rep. John Adams of Coeur d'Alene for mine inspector.

WEEKLY FORECAST

The forecast weather pattern indicates that the high pressure ridge over the Pacific will continue to exert its influence over the area. The pattern also indicates that Pacific Northwest systems will have greater effect on Oregon, Washington and northern Idaho rather than on southern Idaho through next week.

Temperatures are expected to arrive from three to five degrees above normal through next Monday with frequent but minor daily temperature changes. Precipitation will occur as scattered light rain or snow at lower elevations and again over the weekend. Rainfall will be quite sparse over Magic Valley and valleys of eastern Idaho through Monday. Precipitation totals will average from 25 to 35 mm. per day over the mountains and 10 to 15 mm. per day over the plains or lower mountain and eastern valley areas.

Wind speeds will average about 40 to 45 mph at possible of winds. Sunshines will average 50 to 55 per cent of possible with daytime high temperatures averaging 55° to 60°. Wind speeds will be greatest at times but average 10 to 15 mph. Night temperatures will be slightly below average November weather conditions during this five-day period.

WEEKLY AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY

The latest weather chart shows a weak Pacific low pressure system about 300 miles off the Washington coast and a cool air mass moving eastward across the Northwest.

Clouds will continue moving away eastward bringing an increase in cloudiness to southern Idaho and central Oregon tomorrow, but most of the shower or light rain will pass through the area by the end of the day.

Temperatures will show slow slight trends during the next two days with the arrival of a cold front.

NATIONAL

WHIRLIGIG

BY RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The brutal fact that American might and power and the willingness to use it forced the Russian back down in Cuba should lead us to reassess and strengthen our defense establishment with the utmost speed. More than ever before we must be prepared for every service, air, army, navy, marines.

"If all the resources we had at our disposal were used, the current U.S. budget of $3 billion dollars would be boosted by at least five billion dollars. Bearing in mind the enormous expense involved in prospects of a war at the next session of congress. But if this should prove to be insurance against actual hostilities, taxpayers would be better off in the long run."

The Russian intervention in Cuba taught several lessons to our military experts. They were astonished at the speed with which the Soviet assembled, packed, shipped and landed combat facilities for launching nuclear missiles from the Cuban island, a distance of 900 miles from Russia.

The Kremlin's willingness to part with so much nuclear power also indicates that the United States is stronger in this aspect than our intelligence agents had reported.

DEFENSE TO BE REVISED—Two possibilities were born of the Russo-Cuban adventure: a plan for a rebuilding and revision of our defense system.

The first is that we may eventually withdraw from some of the nuclear bases which we have ringed Russia along all of her borders.

The second is that neither Russia nor Britain can live in dispute as far as their outcome could be only a nuclear holocaust. Had it not been for this awful danger to the human race of every country, the clash might have been avoided entirely. The clash was held for a global bonfire of a World War II type.

It should be noted that scrapping certain of our foreign bases cannot be construed as a surrender to Russia. We are not giving up our bases; we are taking them under consideration at Washington and Alaska.

There's a reason for the shortage of freight cars that resulted in the Midwest grain jam. Factories and steel-mountain competition from trucks, air and water carriers and such specialized systems of transport as pipelines, the railroads have not been maintaining the same number of cars. Actually, railroad plant tonnage has declined and is declining all the time. From 1960 to 1961, the number of freight cars alone dropped from 1,658,292 to 1,603,500, a decline of 3.3 per cent in one year. True, new freight cars were added in both 1960 and 1961, but the number of new cars added in 1961 was 52.6 per cent under the additions of 1960.

As business has dropped for the railroads, so also has income. In 1960, 1961, 1962, 1963 per cent, but the earning rate had dropped to 1.97 per cent in 1961. Without suitable income, of course, the railroads cannot maintain themselves. If earnings continue to drop, no new capital can be attracted and eventually the railroads will face the possibility of bankruptcy, just like any other business.

The railroads themselves are well aware of the dangers and in recent months have been intensifying efforts to limit their liability in their purchases. Mergers have been proposed and the railroads have gone to court in effort to eliminate some of the practices they contend resulted in an unreasonable overhead.

There has been talk about subsidies for the railroads just to keep them operating so they'd still be strong enough to help them should in the event of a national emergency. Subsidies don't particularly hold the answer. It would appear the best answer is to work with the railroads and make available to porters to cut overhead and complete mergers whenever and whenever possible. Of course, the public interest must be given prime consideration at all times.

If the nation's railroads ever reach the point of dilapidation and weakness where it is impossible for them to recover, the whole nation will suffer.

NO FUTURE IN IT

Careless pilots aren't noted for their longevity, but they're noted for the inconvenience, hardship and unsuccess of things they cause for others. One of the most common oversights is that can be attributed to carelessness is the practice of some private pilots to fail to file a flight plan or failure to close it out after filing. The incidents come up all the time.

If no flight plan is reported and a plane is reported missing later, no one knows where to start searching. In the other case, failure to close out a flight plan, a phone call sometimes is all it takes to "find" a missing plane. If the pilot can't be contacted, there's always the possibility of a full-blown search for a airplane that has been landed and left in a hangar.

Outright carelessness in actual flight is something else again. An excellent example was provided in south Idaho last week by the Montana pilot who clipped some power lines and survived.

The incident occurred at night, although it's inconceivable that any pilot would be flying within 30 feet of the ground at night. When he came to the power lines between Twin Falls and the river town of Payette, Idaho, the airplane became powerless and the wing tank tangled up in the downed lines. Crews who found the break and started repairs naturally were concerned when they found the wing tank. It was almost safe to assume that whatever plane had struck the power lines had crashed somewhere in the vicinity.

Several hours of searching failed to bring up a sign of a wrecked plane. Possible identity of the pilot was found in checking files and it was discovered that he had landed at Twin Falls. After spending the night here, the pilot returned to Montana, still without reporting the accident.

This particular pilot is lucky, indeed, to be alive. Although no immediate charges have been filed, he can expect some sessions with federal aviation agency officials who take a dim view of such flying.

Something's Gone Wrong

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The techniques of the extreme right resemble those of the communist and fellow travelers. There was a ponderable communistic influence in this country. The communists were out to destroy anyone in the immediate orbit who would not conform.

President Eisenhower, in his flush of success and activity, more extensive than any political manifestation while he was in the White House, warned the country that he was a conservative American having a submissive heart. The Eisenhower political definitions are always "square drawn and true." He "retired" during his presidency.

Nevertheless, however the terms "square drawn and true" would be one. To stamp out all dissent would be to make Americans into the totalitarian image that we least like. Right of center, nonconformist, would be an important source of America's dynamism from our first beginnings.

The influence of the "square drawn and true" is sharp. Plots outside the Kremlin for and some agents of communism blockaded in peace, while the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, consisting of more than 100,000 people, called for more drastic action, including an invasion over there plus Castro.

If any invasion had been made, how negligible the continental influence in this country the Cuban crisis appeared.

In view of the present situation, before Cuba, the United States must be the almost paranoid fear of some Americans. This must be understood. The American peace marchers finally reached Moscow, some months ago, they were quickly prevented from going within the message in the street.

To enforce conformity, even in the limit of using subversive techniques, is to put the iron fist in the face of the people within the country. Deep internal divisions are created and attention is directed from the real and continuing problems of freedom.

Not least among these continuing difficulties was shown by a piece of news that got little attention at the height of the Cuban crisis. Communists-inspired or controlled, were able to knock out power plants essential to one-sixth of the population.

The Cuban missile crisis, the trouble in the Caribbean, the long and costly involvement in Vietnam, the recent coup in Belgrade, have been one of the primary targets of Castro and his admirers who use him.

Events in Cuba make individuals think that the United States will be able to outlast the outlook, the preludes, in fact, of a particular federal master or of a greater master in any part of California's coastline.

The activities of extreme rightists as reported from time to time from certain areas have a subversive sound.

By anonymous telephone calls they set out to destroy the reputation of a community, to discredit an organization.

Then, in a show-down on Bay Pines, it was discovered that the Cuban missile site had been taken over by the United States. Premier Khrushchev could have unveiled the plot he had been carrying out to keep the United States from getting its mitts in place and cooked to order.

He could have told the United States it was too late to get information about Bay Pines. The Soviet missiles in Cuba and the shorter-range ones in Cuba could demolish the United States.

News Around Idaho

BOROUE. Nov. 7 (UPI)—Four cities in California, Colorado and Arizona have submitted invitations to serve as host for the 1963 meeting of the national forest recreation association. The group will vote later during its 14th annual meeting here on which city will host the 1963 meeting. The cities are Sacramento, San Francisco, Monterey and Park Springs, Calif., Colorado Springs, Colo., and Chandler, Ariz. The association is made up of holders of recreational permits in national forests.

CORRUPTION. Nov. 7 (UPI)—Workers are being called back to work shortly at Diamond National Corporation's new $1-million Falls and Springs Mine, where some 400 were laid off a few months ago. About 20 maintenance workers were back at Albert Falls Tuesday and 15 at Superior. The mine was closed because of labor trouble, and miners started doing the night shift, have not been rehired and it may be two or three weeks before all employees are called back, said Leland Lucy.

BOISE. Nov. 7 (UPI)—Two University of Idaho faculty members have been named to instruct the civil defense fallout shelter construction workshops planned in southern Idaho. Rear Adm. William C. Speciale, state civil defense director, said Stanley W. Crowley will be instructor at a workshop in Boise with Stephen L. Kline, who will be instructor at one in Pocatello. Both workshops will start during the night, have not been completed and it may be two or three weeks before all employees are called back, said Leland Lucy.

IDAHO FALLS. Nov. 7 (UPI)—Republican State Sen. Orval Hansen, who had early Wednesday he had been elected to the Senate to replace the late Republican, died Saturday morning. Hansen said, "There is no doubt that Rep. Harding has been reelected. I telephoned him a few minutes ago and offered him my congratulations and best wishes."

BOISE. Nov. 7 (UPI)—"All we're after is a good, square deal," COP State Chairman Orville Bailey said Tuesday night in reference to his party's efforts to get the state legislature to pass a bill to place the state's legislative redistricting on the November ballot. In his letter to legislators he said the person should be a Republican or if it isn't, be sure a Republican is checking to make sure the tally is correct. The conference committee of the state Democratic nominating for state, assembly and county was objective in its work, he said. The bill, which was introduced by Rep. John Hansen, was being referred to U. S. Atty. Sylvan Johnson.

BONNIE. Nov. 7 (UPI)—State Rep. Carl E. Smiley, a Republican who sought election as secretary of state, received $450 Wednesday night from Arnold Williams, the Democratic incumbent. He had been defeated by Arnold Williams, the Democratic incumbent. "It is now apparent," said Carl, "that Arnold Williams has been elected secretary of state. I am grateful to him for coming back and helping us. All my friends in the press and radio for helping me in my campaign. I'm back in the rock crusher business."

BOISE. Nov. 7 (UPI)—Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smiley expressed gratitude early Wednesday to those who supported him in his successful campaign for re-election to a third term. The governor, who was elected to the state legislature at his home town, said, "The people would indicate that I have been re-elected and I am deeply grateful and a happy winner. Mrs. Smiley and I are deeply grateful to the thousands of determined Idahoans whose volunteer work made that famous victory possible."

BOISE. Nov. 7 (UPI)—Draining of its 1963 legislative program was halted yesterday as principal business before the Unified Education council at a day-long meeting yesterday. Elmer R. Crowley, executive director of the council, said the group will consider revisions of its by-laws. The legislative recommendations Crowley made, will be based upon the resolutions adopted separately by the three organizations in the Idaho Education Association and the Idaho Congress of Parents and Teachers.

BOISE. Nov. 7 (UPI)—The residents of the Fort Hall Indian reservation, about 100 miles east of Boise, were granted a reprieve from sentencing him to 10 days in jail and fining him $100 on a charge of driving on a revoked drivers license. Vernon J. Basheer appeared before U. S. Commissioner H. Don Blalock in Pocatello, Idaho, and admitted he had been driving on a suspended license, a plea of guilty was made and was accepted. His petition to the district court here asked it to override Blalock's order.

CALDWELL. Nov. 7 (UPI)—Physically handicapped persons can park their automobiles in metered spaces free of charge. Caldwell city council decided last night. The council granted a request from Bert Hill of the chamber of commerce, chairman of the handicapped committee, that the city provide such parking. It is hoped similar action will be taken by communities throughout the state. No sale handicapped persons driving specially equipped automobiles but who are required to use wheelchairs or other devices sometimes have difficulty reaching a parking meter.

CALDWELL. Nov. 7 (UPI)—Robert E. Smiley passed his ballot in Idaho's general election yesterday in a voting booth in a white-frame church building here, the only place he ever has voted. Smiley was attending the College of Idaho here when he became a voting age and although he left Caldwell a number of years ago, many of his relatives here have Smiley and his wife drove here from Boise to cast their votes shortly after the polls opened.

THERE'S NO DOUBT ABOUT WINNING in Michigan where George Romney has won his state's governor's race. He's George's wife, Lenore, after he was elected governor over Democrat John H. Swainson. (AP Wirephoto)

Republicanism's 'Big Three' Loom as President Hopefuls

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (UPI) — It's in the South. There was scattering but important evidence that the South moved a little yesterday toward a two-party opposition coalition that may shape up to be his party's 1964 presidential nominee. After all, he was reelected.

"Rocky" still has a 1964 chance only because Rep. George W. Romney, his son, is the only presidential possibility unless he has two heads.

Republican George Romney, who said he would not be a candidate, was projected into the presidential picture by being elected governor of Michigan. Republican William W. Scranton was elected governor of Pennsylvania. He's another 1964 possibility. The two big states had strong chances that Republicans can maneuver and now may be coming back. That appears to be the best Republican election next year.

Next best was a modest increase in Southern Republicans elected to the House yesterday. The 10th. The administration's party spokesman to demand that the future of the Republican party presidential sweepstakes today.

NELSON ROCKEFELLER, right, and Sen. Jacob Javits raise hands in victory salute at Rep. publican headquarters in New York City. Javits won reelection over respective Democratic opponents Robert M. Morgenthau and James R. Doherty. (AP Wirephoto)

For Romney, his victory over Gov. John B. Swainson was another of the many political successes made since his birth to a Mormon missionary family in Mexico 85 years ago.

Romney is a tall, thin national figure in Republican politics. Rockefeller and Scranton will figure in all three, has a solid party background. Who or least Richard M. Nixon took out of the 1964 race?

Romney has argued that JPS can be licked in 1964. And Rocky is willing to try. Willing Annex!

GEORGE ROMNEY

of Michigan

George Romney, first Rep.

to be elected governor of Michigan since 1948, could count on the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

The administration's party spokesman to demand that the future of the Republican party presidential sweepstakes today.

But the 45-year-old son of a wealthy oilman has lent its name to a Pennsylvania community that is thinking first of his job as the Keystone State's first Republican governor. He is young, but could have been content with managing his family's business interests when he won a seat in the House in 1954. But instead he sought an energetic leader in the efforts of Scranton, his housemate, to become chairman of the House Select Committee on Small Business.

Throughout the rugged gubernatorial campaign, he contended that industrial help had given to his community. And he said he believed he was qualified to do the same thing in Congress.

In 1959, Scranton was named special assistant to Secretary of State Christian Herter. In the Eisenhower administration, he served as press aide and representative of the United States at NATO and United Nations conferences.

Cadillac

WATCH THEM IMITATE THIS ONE!

This is the look of things to come in modern motor cars styling.

It's the 1963 Cadillac—a motor car so beautiful and so tempting it is difficult to resist.

The new look in Cadillacs combines formality and youthfulness, majesty and vigor in a way that is predictably trend-setting.

And it belongs to Cadillac alone. You won't see any others with that sweeping expanse of hood and deck that give the 1963 Cadillac its unique look of vitality and power.

And its discerning use of chrome and aluminum welcomes a new purity of form in automotive design.

Of course, there's a great deal more than styling in this new Cadillac that is worthy of admiration.

There are Cadillacs' beautiful and luxurious new interiors—and Cadillac's remarkable new performance—and Cadillac's unprecedented choice of personal appointments and accessories—and Cadillac's unrivaled dependability and value.

Cadillac is now more clearly than ever before the Standard of the World.

The thing to do is to see and drive one of the twelve brilliant new models and get the whole Cadillac story for 1963. And for a full year at the wheel, do it before another week goes by.

Waterfield Steps Out as Top Coach For L. A. Rams

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7 (AP)—Bob Waterfield, one of professional football's all-time greats as a quarterback, but a losing coach, stepped down Tuesday as head coach of the faltering Los Angeles Rams. His action came as his old hall club's season record stood at one win against seven defeats. He was midway through a five-year contract.

Champion Hoop Playoff In Manila

MOSCOW, Germany, Nov. 7 (UPI)—The world basketball championship, scheduled for Moscow on Dec. 1-15, was postponed Tuesday but arrangements were begun to hold the tournament at another site.

The fourth world champion ship will be held within the next six months in a country that does not make its own basketballs. A spokesman for the international amateur basketball association said:

"Reference is made to the Philippines, which granted visas to 100 players from Yugoslavia, a communist country."

The Soviet Union earlier had asked its team out of the tournament.

Other countries which had agreed to withdraw included Argentina, Brazil,

China and Israel.

There was no immediate indication where the tournament would be moved. Mexico has offered to host it.

The United States, Brazil and Israel also are said to be interested.

The cancellation of the tournament came after a press break out to get the Philippines to honor their stand. They stuck to their guns.

MAKES CHANGE

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7 (UPI)—The Philadelphia Eagles, which placed second in the NFL last year, have fired coach John Wexford and hired Bill Belichick as his replacement. Belichick, who was the defensive end and tackle back in the 1980s, was released by the New England Patriots.

Belichick, who has been a defensive

assistant for the New England Patriots for the past two years, was an assistant coach for the Philadelphia Steelers.

Forest Funds Turned Over To Idaho

Checkers totaling $28,465.70 have been sent to the state of Idaho for use by counties which have had their local court of appeals to appoint a master to take evidence on whether

Mississippi C. C. Ross Barrett's timber sales were in order in the James H. Meredith desecration case.

The Justice department said the finding of a master was necessary because

Barnett, while contending he is not in connection with the case, has taken no action to present any evidence he has taken to purge himself on a contempt citation.

State Grange Report Made For Murtough

MURTAUGH, Nov. 7 — Art Gandy, state president, and his resolutions which were passed at state Grange sessions held at Coeur d'Alene and Mrs. Carruthers, president of the women's auxiliary, reported to the Murtough Grange.

James Sargent gave a complete agriculture report on compounds of nitrogen and phosphate applications made to four test plots of potatoes on his farm by Simplot.

O. W. Johnson, legislative chairman, submitted a bill to the legislature to amend a bill to be voted upon in the Tuesday elections.

Harold Menor explained in detail the county zoning proposal.

Mrs. Henry Petersen, home economics chairman, said the Grange will serve lunch at the Edward Duton farm sale on Nov. 13.

Report was given by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Denion and Mr. and Mrs. Emmer Graff,
